Location

This truly exceptional ladies boutique is located within the city centre of Oxford. It trades from premises that are not visible from the street. The city is known worldwide as the home of the University of Oxford, the oldest university in the English-speaking world. Oxford has a broad economic base. Its industries include motor manufacturing, education, publishing and a large number of information technology and science-based businesses, some being academic offshoots. This is a superb city for a boutique style business such as this, however the business would easily relocate to other areas. Oxford is 36 miles east of Cheltenham and 43 miles east of Gloucester, and 51 miles north-west of London. The rivers Cherwell and Thames run through Oxford and meet south of the city centre. Oxford is accessed via the A34 connecting to the M40 motorway and beyond.

Business History

Online Business Sales are delighted to offer to the market this bespoke ladies boutique which was established by our client in 1982. Our client has decided that only now will they be placing the business onto the market due to pressing family commitments. The business, which is run and managed by our client, achieves a very respectable annual turnover of £40,000 derived from selling a unique range of stylish and individual clothing, gifts, jewellery, scarves and other accessories and fashionable items. Our clients business is not immediately visible and has always benefited from excellent levels of repeat business and new customers appear regularly from good word of mouth recommendations. There is massive scope to add further lines which may increase income or for a new owner to increase visibility with a prime trading location. This would also be a superb bolt-on for an existing complementary business. Our client currently runs the business at a pace that suits their lifestyle meaning that there is massive scope for new, hands on owner operator to further develop the business. The sale is for the business only, which would need to be relocated and our client is happy to provide full training during the transition period. We feel that this opportunity provides a new owner with an excellent base to build upon and we urge early viewing of this excellent business to truly appreciate the potential on offer.
